Brief Summary and Statement of Need:

This program works cooperatively with private landowners to develop conservation strategies to protect key fish and wildlife habitats, including habitats for species of special concern or species listed under the Endangered Species Act. Working with willing sellers, this voluntary, non-regulatory program emphasizes conservation easements and fee title acquisitions to achieve long-term habitat protection or population goals. Additional benefits include increased economic opportunities for participating landowners, local and regional communities; broader public access; and maintenance of traditional uses of protected lands.

Project Description/Justification:

This program has been funded completely with federal dollars and private non-federal match since May, 2000. Grant sources include: National Coastal Wetlands Conservation Act Grants, USFWS Recovery Land Grants, and Landowner Incentive Program Grants.

NATIONAL COASTAL WETLAND CONSERVATION GRANT PROGRAM: GUSTAVUS LAND ACCESS PROJECT ($1,000,000):

The Alaska Department of Fish and Game (ADF&G) has submitted a grant proposal on behalf of the Nature Conservancy and Community of Gustavus requesting $1million from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service National Coastal Wetland Conservation Act Grant Program. The intent of the grant is to acquire fee title to high quality fish and wildlife habitat and wetlands in Gustavus, Alaska. This is Phase II of a proposed three-phase project to acquire lands currently owned by the Alaska Mental Health Trust Authority.

Gustavus Land Access Project Match: Non-federal match provided by the Nature Conservancy, Gustavus Land Access Project, and Ducks Unlimited.
