The Trust Land Office (TLO) will contract for services to supplement its core operations. Typically the services are related to nonrecurring projects such as the administration of a large timber sale, the evaluation of a particularly complex transaction, development of an asset management plan for certain trust lands or resources or significant improvements to the TLO's information management system. The Trust Land Office (TLO), supported by funds derived from Trust Income, manages and develops Alaska Mental Health Trust lands on behalf of the Alaska Mental Health Trust Authority. Our mission is to protect and enhance values of and maximize revenues from Alaska Mental Health Trust Land.

Funds associated with this project have enabled the Trust Land Office to diversify revenue-generating sources of income. These sources include land leases, land sales, oil and gas leases, mineral exploration licenses and leases, timber sales and other general land use authorizations.

Project Description/Justification:

Sec 37.14.009 (a) (2) of the Alaska Statutes requires that the Alaska Mental Health Trust Authority "contract with the Department of Natural Resources to manage the land assets of the Trust, in conformity with AS 38.05.801 (Trust Land management). 11AAC 99.020(b) requires that that Trust land be managed "solely in the best interest of the Alaska mental health trust and its beneficiaries. When determining the best interest of the Trust and its beneficiaries the TLO must consider specific principles set out in 11 AAC 99.020(c):

- ? maximization of long-term revenue from trust land;
- ? protection of the corpus;
- ? protection and enhancement of the long-term productivity of trust land;
- ? encouragement of a diversity of revenue-producing uses of trust land; and
- ? management of trust land prudently, efficiently, and with accountability to the trust and its beneficiaries.

Effective management of Trust lands over time requires the expenditure of core operating costs to address annual costs of basic Trust land management. In addition to these costs, supplemental funds are needed to address the types of projects noted above. This request addresses the "supplemental" costs that are incurred to comply with the intent of AS 38.05.801 and its associated regulations. Typically, these costs translate into funds used to hire private sector contractors that provide specific land management, pre-disposal or disposal services to the TLO. For instance, a private sector forestry-consulting firm administers the TLO's Icy Bay timber sale contract, a major revenue generator for the Trust. Absent the funds necessary for contract services of this nature, the TLO would not be able to achieve its revenue projections for the year. The Trust Authority relies on those projections when determining which mental health related projects it will fund in subsequent years. The requested funds will come from the Trust and not the General Fund.

Cost estimates associated with the requested funds are based on over six years of operating experience as well as an awareness of costs associated with comparable projects elsewhere in the state. Supplemental funding requests are minimized; to the extent it is reasonable to do so, by passing development costs (e.g. surveys, appraisals, etc.) onto the end user (e.g. buyer or lessee).

Why is this Project Needed Now:

As noted above, The Trust Land Office (TLO) was established to manage the lands of the Mental Health Trust. Our mission is two fold: 1) to protect and enhance the value of Alaska Mental Health Trust Lands; and (2) to maximize revenues from Trust Lands over time. Funds requested for FY05 will enable the TLO to complete the projects necessary to further our mission.

Specific Spending Detail:

Allocation of requested funds would be distributed in resource categories. The decision to proceed with a specific project is subject to a variety of considerations, including changes in the market place. Decisions could also be made to shift funds between categories to ensure the best overall rate of return to the Trust:
