Additional Information / Prior Funding History:

Project Description/Justification:

The Unalaska construction project is in the federal project pipeline, has received federal support in the past as it progresses through the federal process, and will receive funding in the future until constructed unless a negative feasibility study terminates the project. The amount shown below is based on the latest draft legislation related to the 2007 Water Resource Development Act (WRDA) currently awaiting passage by Congress and the President. Additionally, $750,000 would be set aside to support current and future local community sponsored Corps of Engineers feasibility and reconnaissance studies, when there is a state interest. Potential studies include Port Lions, Akutan, and the Aleutians East Borough.
