Brief Summary and Statement of Need:

This project will provide funding to continue the Arctic Fox Study. One of the goals of this study is to document den-site density, diet, and movement of the arctic fox within NPR-A near Teshekpuk Lake. This project also provides funding for the investigation of infectious diseases in arctic fox with a special focus on life-threatening rabies. The data obtained from this study will serve as the basis for potential control and management measures.
