During FY2015, the Commissioner's Office and Administrative Services provided oversight, direction, and support services that helped the department achieve:

- Enhanced industry partnerships through cooperation and collaboration of industry, education, training providers, nonprofit organizations, and state and federal agencies. These partnerships resulted in the Alaska Maritime Workforce Development Plan and the Alaska Oil and Gas Workforce Development Plan, and development of a professional pre-release program in coordination with the Department of corrections using innovative workforce development initiatives to reduce prison recidivism and help meet industry workforce demand.
- Increased Alaska Labor Relations Agency case resolutions by 89 percent from FY2013 totals.
- Successfully completed required milestones for the build phase of the state's new accounting system (IRIS) implementation project.
- Piloted the use of cable modems and security appliance to get fiber service to the department offices in Western Alaska. Based on the performance realized in this pilot, this service will be deployed to all of the department's rural Alaska offices in the near future.
- Provided labor market information by responding to thousands of requests for information and conducting more than 60 presentations to a wide variety of audiences.

Key RDU Challenges

The primary challenge for the Commissioner's Office and Administrative Services Division is providing policy direction and support services that will result in the streamlining of processes, increased efficiency, and improved service delivery.
